

The Reinhold Niebuhr Institute of Religion and Culture

in conjunction with the

Franciscan Center for Catholic Studies

presents

Dr. Vince Miller

Consuming Religions: Christian Faith and Practice in a Consumer Culture

Thursday, April 23rd, 2009

4:00 p.m.

Roger Bacon 202 – Key Auditorium

Dr. Vince Miller is an Associate Professor of Theology at Georgetown University. He teaches courses in Catholic theology and religion and culture. His research focuses on the question tradition as a process--how religious belief is handed on through time and across cultures. His recent work, Consuming Religion considered the ways in which consumer culture transforms religious belief and practice. His current research is on the religious effects of globalization.

For further information contact:

Dr. Peter Ellard, Director
The Reinhold Niebuhr Institute of Religion and Culture at Siena College

pellard@siena.edu

Siena College

515 Loudon Road
Loudonville, NY 12211

Phone (518) 782-6889
www.siena.edu/Niebuhr